In Last Encounter you're not a single hero in one shared universe. Instead you're a team of heroes, flying ships and battling against the enemy. Death isn't the end, it's just a new galaxy map. Your goal as a team is to reach the root of the problem. On the home galaxy, the home of humanity, it is your duty to protect people from the experiments of the enemies. As the Dr. Connor, you are the leader of this team. You decide how the team plays, upgrades their ship, and approaches enemies. The team will then respond to your decisions in their own way. You can also share a cockpit with three friends, or make a voyage by yourself. Discover a gameplay mode where you are alone on the star field. It's where your decisions will affect the world in your very own story. On the home galaxy, you are the current supreme ruler. The place where you learn the skills you use on the faraway stars. The only way to reach these stars is to sign contracts with local corporations and build your own ship. Your weapon system, ship, upgrades, and skill set all depend on what you've accomplished here. Wherever you go the sun will rise and the stars will sleep. Home will hold different opportunities in every sector. Lives and ships are gained and
