A couple of weeks ago the streets of downtown Lincoln were pretty quiet with the exception of downtown bus commuters. After all, it is the first week of summer and the weather was starting to get nice. It would only be fitting for State Street to be bustling by now. I'm happy to say that those crowds have arrived now. It was great to see the Lincoln Visitors Bureau hold a big press event at 1 p.m. on June 13th at the corner of State and Sixth to highlight all the great restaurants opening this week and next. Several people who were there said the food was fantastic. I didn't get a chance to try any of it but I did get to walk around the block and take photos of the early spring street art. The Creative Fellowship event this week was also well attended and lots of good work was on display. A couple of the local talent that participated
